Five reasons to consolidate your data backup

- Protect virtual and physical environments with one product. Eliminate the need to learn and manage multiple backup products, saving valuable time and resources.

- Lower total cost of ownership. Working with a single vendor simplifies the design phase, streamlines implementation and provides one customer support team to answer all of your questions.

- Reduce the risk of gaps in the backup process. A multi-vendor data protection environment may lead to wasting valuable resources duplicating backups, or even worse to gaps in coverage leaving critical data unprotected.

- Minimize your exposure to data loss. Clearly defined data management policies go beyond simple nightly backups. Making the best use of archiving, cloud and disaster recovery options keeps the right data, in the right place, for the right amount of time.

- Automate key tasks with a single console. Streamlining all data protection tasks into a single automated schedule saves organizations valuable time and resources.
